Smoot, Coffer: & McCalley.

1216 F St. 'Phone 725.

Spring

—The latest and most exclusive

HOWING a complete line of Ladies' ele-Voile, French Suitings, Mohair, Sicilian and Silk, in $\frac{3}{2}$ black, blue, tan, brown and $\frac{3}{2}$ the new checks. Fashioned in the latest Eton, Bolero $ and Tuxedo Jacket styles, $ with new plaited, circular and umbrella skirts. Prices are well within reason.

Tan Jackets.

ADIES' New Tan & Jackets for spring; § 24 - inch length; man-tailored and with taffeta; leg-o'mutton sleeves. $10

Silk Coats.

Three-quarter 🐉 Loose and Redingote Coats; beau- $ tifully made of taffeta, aeolian, rajah and Birlingham; finished with lace and silk collars and lining. Choice of black, tan, blue and pongee; all are reasonably priced.

Walking Skirts.

new Walking Skirts in the latest plaited and circular styles. Choice of black and blue. Special plaited skirt $5

All the newest and prettiest Waists in $ Irish, Handkerchief $ and India Linen and Washable Silk. Embroidery and lace trimmed in the most at= tractive manner. Prices are scaled up from $1.

Smoot, Coffer & McCalley, 1216 F Street.

THE TRUE QUALITY FLOUR

-Scientific tests and practical, every-day tests in home kitchens prove the purity and superior quality

-No other flour in the market gives such good results in baking. "Ceres" Flour always yields the lightest, whitest, sweetest and most nutritious bread and rolls and the most delicious cake and pastry. -Use "Ceres" Flour the next time you bake, and your bake will prove a decided success.

for "Ceres" Flour and refuse substitutes.

Wm. M. Galt & Co., Wholesalers of "Ceres" Flour, First St. and Ind. Ave.

$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$$ Prices on HAIR prices on HAIR BRUSHES and TOOTH BRUSHES.

HE best selected stock of Fine Hair Brushes and Tooth Brushes you'll see in the city. And the prices are way under what the drug-trust druggists ask.

J. W. Jennings, mh14-28d 1142 Conn. Avenue.

Horse Covers At Auction Prices.

mh8-20d

them at from $2 to $2.50; they're worth every cent of $5. Don't fail to secure one-it means a saving of from $2 to $2.50.

S. Bensinger, 940-42-44 La. ave.

Survivors of Second Army Corps at the Shoreham.

SPEAKERCANNONTALKS

PRAISES JAPS AND AMERICANS FOR LOVE OF COUNTRY.

John M. Thurston, W. S. Shallenberger and Others Make Addresses-Those at the Table.

Corps and their guests sat down to the fourteenth annual banquet of that organization in the Shoreham last night. The frosty heads of the veterans of the civil war were not so thickly crowded as at last year's feast, time having done much to thin the ranks of those who fought for their country's good and carried their banners to victory on many a gory field. Yet there was a goodly number of the old boys of '61, and they made merry in feast and story until the clock told of the birth of another day.

The hall wherein the banquet was held was handsomely decorated in the flag of the country and with the banners of the brigades making up the Second Army Corps. It was a truly kaleidoscopic scene that greeted the diners as they sat down, palms, flowers and glittering crystal and silver vying with the colors to make an harmo-nious ensemble. During the course of the dinner an orchestra played a series of ap-propriate selections. The menu was elab-

The prominent guests of the occasion were the Speaker of the House of Representatives, who responded to the toast, "Our Country," in place of the Secretary of War, who was absent because of illness and former Senator John M. Thurspess and former Senator John M. Thurspess ness, and former Senator John M. Thurston of Nebraska. Senator Thurston responded to "A Look Forward." William S. Shallenberger, second assistant postmass. Shallenberger, second assistant postmaster general, a member of the corps association, spoke to "Our Corps." Another interesting speaker was Eki Hioki, first secretary of the Japanese legation, whose remarks were entirely impromptu, and who received the sincere and hearty applause of the diners for his eloquent tribute to the soldiery of the world.

Toast to the President.

Charles Lyman, president of the association, held the chair and acted as toastmaster, introducing the speakers. The first toast was drunk to the President. He also read several letters from members who were unable to be present. Speaker Cannon began by saying that he presumed that there was no similar number of men banded together in association who had gone through more or greater perils than the members of the Second Army Corps, and that he was happy and fortunate to be one of them, if only to help them cherish the memory of the acts of their living and dead comrades in arms. His most significant remark, however, was a reference to Japan. Speaking directly to the Japanese secretary, who sat near him, he said:

"There is another people who. I believe, deserve a country, and I believe they are going to have one. I refer to that nation which is now struggling with heroic valor on the fields of Asia. Their forms are different from ours, but they occupy the position our ancestors did when they threw off the yoke of monarchy and made themselves freemen among the nations of the earth. These people have demonstrated by their actions that they love their country, that they deserve to live and have a country, and, by deserving it, it would seem that they are going to live and have a were unable to be present. Speaker Can-try, and, by deserving it, it would seem that they are going to live and have that "I may be pardoned and indulged if I say that I do not believe there is another people on the face of the earth whose love of country is so great as ours. We have made it what it is and we are in the period when it shall be exactly what we make it. Our country begins at the bottom and works up, not at the top to go downward. I do not declaim against the mother country. We have her laws' her civilization, her language, and I believe we have improved on them all. We now extend from Plymouth Rock to the Golden Gate and from the borders of the north to the tropics and beyond, but our country was actually launched in 1789, when that matchless document, the Constitution, was adopted and ecame a part of our civilization. From that moment the wheels have been going round and round and the progress has never for a moment known recession. From the Atlantic to the Pacific we feel, as a people, that we stand first among the nations. It is the men and the women who make the is the men and the women who make up a nation. They made the settlements and made the progress which we are here tonight to applaud. They demonstrated their ability and their worthiness of a country, and in the fullness of time our sons and our daughters will journey southward and carry our laws and our civilization into the great continent beyond the sea."

The speaker was rewarded with a great ovation as he concluded.

Work of Second Corps. Mr. Shallenberger detailed the work of the Second Corps and said that some of its great work had been done with its artillery, but he did not believe that the members had ever listened to its roar with more delight than they had felt at the sound of its kind in the person of the Speaker of the House. The sally was appreciated by the guests and Mr. Cannon. "I believe the history of the Second Corps has been the history of the army," he said, "for it served throughout the war unbroken. There were twenty-five corps organized during the war, and only one of them served throughout the entire struggle unbroken. One hundred thousand men were members of that corps and they fell like the leaves of the autumn, yet during the time they fought some of the brightest records of all military history were made.

"As General Grant said, Hancock was one of the most heroic figures in all history; Sumner was another, and there was also that matchless hero, Couch. These names live in history as they live in our hearts, yet they are not the only ones who go to make a country. It is the fathers and the mothers whose devotion to duty makes our country what it is. They serve their country and accept a part of the responsibility."

He paid an eloquent tribute to the citizen soldiery of the country, and said that it was not West Point which had always sent was not West Point which had always sent the best men to the front when the country called for defenders.

"There is one man at least," he said, "whose name is deathless, who never saw West Point, and yet who, by a marvelous series of promotions rose to be a lieutenant general of the United States. I name Nelson A. Miles. No, we do not depend upon military schools for our soldiers; we look to the farm and the factory, and we have never yet failed to find them when they were wanted. Every man has the have never yet falled to find them when they were wanted. Every man has the right to what he earns, and as our beloved President has said. 'No man shall be down, but every man be up.' We shall continue to rise, guided by that matchless instrument, the Constitution, until we need never fear a faltering step. Every victory won by the 2d Corns was a victory for the fear by the 2d Corps was a victory for the foe as well as for the corps. We are, by the grace of God, a united country, where every man, north and south, has his share in the heritage of the struggle that made us what we are, and we are all alike proud of the institutions which we have carved out of the land God gave us Brilliant Oration.

Senator Thurston treated the guests to one of his brilliant orations and received great applause during and after the close of his remarks. He said:

"Our country got her escutcheon from no royal seals, but earned her right to it by the valor of her sons on many a field. We honor you not because you fought for con-quest and dominion, but because you fought for humanity and country, that from the Atlantic to the Pacific there should be the Atlantic to the Pacific there should be a unity of states. We are not a warlike people. When we fought we fought we fought we fought for some good cause. First, in 1776, to throw off the dominion of a kingly yoke; second, in 1812, because our right to administer our affairs as we wished was again questioned; third, in 1848, that the republic of Texas might set her star in the galaxy of na
The Kentucky court of appeals at Frank and allays all irritation, kills the catarrhal germs and allays all irri

Parker, Bridget & Co.

9th and the Avenue.

Parker, Bridget & Co.

9th and the Avenue.

Spring Wear for Men.

Take the line right through and you'll agree we've accomplished something well worthy of your consideration—well calculated to win your undivided patronage.

Take the TOP COATS, Styles in one sense don't change much in Top Coats, but there's a lot of difference in the style of different Top Coats. These coats of ours are not skimpy, but properly full—beautifully draped. The designer who planned them has mastered the art of cutting coats that'll hug close at the collar and fall smoothly and gracefully from a perfectly molded shoulder. That collar hugs the neck whether you let the coat fly loose or button it.

The Top Coat is a coat you'll have lots of use for from now on—and lots of satisfactory use if it's a Parker-Bridget Top Coat. All the approved fabrics of the better quality from $12 to $35.

The SPRING-WEIGHT SUITS are shown in the widest possible variety of fabrics. Coats cut rather long (both double and single breasted), trousers full wide at the thigh. Undoubtedly they're the most gracefully cut Suits you'll see—and they've got good, honest tailor work in them to make them retain all the grace in service that they have right now. Prices from $12 to $30.

The "Stag" Last is the "Hit" of the Season.

The most popular last that has ever been brought out. We believe more men are wearing this one last than any other one last shown in town. It has a swing and style about it that you won't find in any other last—and while it's an extreme style, it makes a comfortable shoe.

Oxfords on the Stag last—in all leathers —$3.50 up.

Another Appropriate Fur= nishing Display Ready Tomorrow.

A new Shirt and a Silk Tie-(the Tie in the loved shade of green) to go in the furnishings window tomorrow. Our chief has had the Shirts made up of a genuine IRISH LINEN (not madras that masquerades as linen so often now, but Irish linen, guaranteed). Some Shirts with cuffs attached some detached. They're good $2 shirts, but we'll quote $1.25 them at = = = = =

Or shirt and tie, $1.50.

Purber Budget & Co

HEAD-TO-FOOT OUTFITTERS.

9th and Penna. Ave.

might live in universal liberty. Lastly, we fought to lift up those into the sunshine of freedom who had not the power to lift themselves up. The world today looks on us in wonder, yet your heroic example shows that there is an American soldier in every home, and the world honors the American soldier because of that. You did not fight for greed of gold, but left the peace of your firesides and your quiet ways and carried your banners to victory, and when the end came you returned and again took up the broken thread of your lives and began again to make your country that for which you had fought.

"Had it not been for the Second Corps there would have been no Gettysburg, and there would have been no such peace to contemplate as that which smiles upon us today. We are now bounded on the east by the islands of the sea, on the west by those same possessions, on the south by the the aurora borealis, and we are never fear-ful of taking old glory across the seas if such be necessary to expand the ideas of liberty and equality, but view our future by the expanding light of the nation's des-

Senator Thurston praised the work of the men who fought in the war with Spain, and said that that contest proved forever that there were no dividing lines in the general scheme of the American peo ple. He said that the flag had been hauled down in Cuba, for instance, but he knew that the American flag would never be hauled down unless an American hand did th

Japanese Secretary.

Mr. Hioki was called upon by the toastmaster and instantly responded. He said "I am aware that silence is golden, and that there could be no greater indiscretion than for a foreigner to try to make an impromptu speech in a language not his own, especially after having heard the eloquent speakers who have preceded me. But it would be improper for me not to express my appreciation of the honor con ferred upon me and to express my grati-tude for that most graceful tribute paid my country.
"The fact that you are the veterans of that great war makes you more dear to me, because, my brethren are now fighting Manchuria and are now experiencing what you experienced forty years ago. My heart never ceases to beat for the soldier, for there is no profession nobler than that of soldiery. The soldier lays down his life for the safety of his brother and sister. What act of man can be nobler than that? I know few here tonight, but I wish to propose a toast to this great re-public, strong in war, great in commerce and stanch in friendship." What act of man can be nobler

The last speaker was given a tremendous ovation and the toast was drunk with enthusiasm. Following him were several short addresses, at the close of which the bugle sounded "Taps."

Officers of Society.

The officers of the society are: President Charles Lyman; vice presidents, first division, Dewitt C. Sprague; second division Orville Dewey Thatcher; third division, Na. thaniel Shatswell; executive committee Richard W. Tyler, Charles F. Humphrey William S. Shallenberger, James S. Wyck off, John Finn; historian, William P. Seville; chaplain, Rev. Henry S. Stevens; ser geant-at-arms, James McCrea; secretary and treasurer, Henry C. Bradley. The reception committee was as follows:
Gen. Alex. S. Webb, Gen. Jos. S. Smith,
Capt. Newton M. Brooks, Capt. W. S. Shallenberger, Gen. James A. Beaver, Gen.
Charles Smart, Gen. Chas. F. Humphrey,
Col. Frank D. Sloat, Maj. Alfred R.
Ouaiffe.

Quaiffe.
The past presidents are: Lieut. Charles Lyman, 1893-1901-1902; Brig. Gen. R. N. Batchelder, 1894; Col. James D. Brady, 1895; Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles. 1893-1899-1900; Gen. Joseph S. Smith, 1897; Gen. Marshall I. Luddington, 1898; Adjt. W. S. Shalienberger, 1'03; Maj. Richard W. Tyler, 1904.
The members and guests present included

The members and guests present included the following: Speaker Cannon, Second As-sistant PostmasterGeneral W. S. Shallenberger, Gen. George B. Davis, John M. Thurs ton, Gen. George S. Woodward, Charles Ly tions, and, fourth, in 1861, that all men Perry, Hyland C. Kirk, R. W. McMahon, Carl B. Sheppard, A. B. MacKenzie, A. H. Nixon, Eugene S. Bisbee, Homer Riggs, John Flan, James McCrea, Charles Ebert, William M. Meredith, N. M. Brooks, J. J. McCardy, A. H. E. Richardson, J. W. Simms, H. B. Davis, A. Howitt Mickerson, Stephen R. Whitney, H. T. Caton, C. S. Wilder, H. C. Bradley, O. D. Thatcher, G. Joseph S. Smith, Burton Parker, William Wallace Brown and John Joy Edson.

ADMIRAL BRIGHT BURIED

Funeral Services Held at 3 O'Clock

Funeral services were held over the remains of Rear Admiral George A. Bright at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the family residence, 1536 T street northwest. They were conducted by Rev. U. G. B. Pierce of All Souls' Church. At the request of the family the usual military ceremonies were omitted, except that six blue jackets acted as body bearers. Among those present were several members of the Loyal Legion. of which society the admiral was a member. In accordance with the request of the admiral the remains were cremated. Rear Admiral Bright, who was a medical director in the navy, was born on April 9, 1837, in Bangor, Me., and was appointed an acting assistant surgeon in the navy on May 15, 1861. During the civil war he served on board the U.S. S. Charleston, at Philadelphia, U.S. S. New Ironsides and Marion. He was appointed an assistant surgeon on August 8, 1864. After the civil war he served on board the U. S. S. Susquehanna until appointed a passed assistant surgeon on December 31, 1867, then at the Naval Hospital, Washington, D. C., on the Kenosha, Plymouth, at Naval Academy, was promoted to surgeon on September 12, 1874, and served on board the Tuscarora, at the hospital, Mare Island, Cal., naval recruiting rendezvous, Philadelphia, Galena, Constellation, Brooklyn, at navy yard Nortolk Va at Naval Academy and was profelled. folk, Va., at Naval Academy, and was pro moted to medical inspector on May 11 1893, afterward serving on the South At lantic station, at navy yard, New York, Naval Hospital, Washington, and was pro-Naval Hospital, Washington, and was promoted to medical director on October 19, 1897. He was detached from the Naval Hospital at Washington April 8, 1899, and transferred to the retired list on April 9, 1899, with the rank of rear admiral.

FLORENCE JORDAN ESCAPES. Eludes Attendants at the St. Elizabeth

Hospital. Florence Jgrdan, a young woman who gained notoriety in this city several years ago and way sent to St. Elizabeth Hospital forbile Insane, escaped from that institution yesterday and the police were asked to look out for her. Policemen all over the city searched for her last night, but did hot meet with success. - She was last seeh about the hospital grounds about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. When night came and she was not in the building, the attendants became satisfied that she had taken French leave and called on the police. This is not the first time that the young woman has left the institution in this way. Once when she got away she went to Philadelphia, Arriew days ago she left the grounds, and, was seen on the railroad tracks between the hospital property and Anacostia. At that time she evidently became aware that she was being watched and returned to the asylum. Yesterday she was not seen and was not missed by the attendants until it was too late to find attendants until it was too late to find her south of the Anacostia bridge. It is believed that she came to the city and sought the assistance of friends to help her to get away from this section. She is twenty-eight years old and good looking. She is not a raving maniac and is able to excite the sympathy of anybody. When she went away she wore a gray cap, but the police think she had no trouble in get-ting a hat to wear in its stead.

ALEXANDRIA AFFAIRS

ALEXANDRIA LIGHT INFANTRY TO ELECT A LIEUTENANT.

Case of Hiliary Brown Sent to Grand Jury - Funeral of Amos

Special Correspondence of The Evening Star. ALEXANDRIA, Va., March 14, 1905. light Infantry, Company G of the 70th Virginia Regiment, will be held this evening in Armory Hall on South Royal street for the election of a second lieutenant. The company met in the armory last evening and after several ballots unanimously electer Mr. Charles E. Pierpoint second lieutenent, but when apprised of his election Mr. Pierpoint announced that he would have to decline owing to business engagements, which will keep him away from the city a large part of the time. The names of Mr. Pierpoint and Mr. Frank C. Spinks, jr., were put in nomination, and on the first ballot the former received 39 votes and the latter 9. A second ballot stood Pierpoint, 40; Spinks, 8. The election was then made unanimous. The meeting this evenng will take place after the annual aspection of the company by Col. Jo Lane Stern of Richmond, assistant inspector gen-eral of the state militia. The review will e held in the armory at 8 o'clock.

Referred to Grand Jury. Hillary Brown, colored, who was arrested

Sunday on the charge of setting fire to a stable building on South Favette street, was given another examination this morning before Justice Caton in the police court. Additional evidence was adduced which tended to show that the defendant entered the premises Saturday night and came out just before the fire started. Jusice Caton held Brown for the action of the grand jury. He was also examined on suspicion of being the negro who attempted to rob Miss Lucy Ponnet of a satchel containing money Saturday night, but this charge was dismissed as Miss Ponnet said was sure he was not the man.

Selected His Own Pallbearers.

Funeral services over the remains of Mr Andrew Sullivan, whose death occurred yesterday morning, will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence, 217 North Royal street. According to a desire which Mr. Sullivan expressed before his last illness, the remains will be buried in a confederate uniform and tend the funeral. He also selected from his former comrades in arms the following to act as pallbearers: Messrs. Charles S. Taylor, James Hammond, G. William Ramsay, J. C. Milburn, E. C. Graham and P. F. eran Fire Association will be held this evenng in the Friendship fire engine house to plan tributes of respect to the memory of General Matters

In the letter accepting for the President the resignation of Mr. Park Agnew as internal revenue collector for the sixth Virginia district to take effect May 1, Secretary Shaw sent congratulations to Mr. Agnew, as follows: "In this connection accept my congratulations on the very excellent record made during the eight years of your service, and I thank you for the loyalty at all times displayed toward the department with which you have been so long connected." In the corporation court yesterday case of the commonwealth against W., O. Pollard, charged with grand larceny, was for Boys,

A Special Spring Suit

We don't usually talk bargains, but we certainly give them always. This line of Boys' Suits, for instance, ought to be higher priced; but there are just lots of people who want to pay about that figure for the Suits the boys will wear to school, and we've stretched a point of value to get up these Suits to sell at this price.

Every style you can fancy is represented in mixed tweeds as well as serges.

Two pairs of trousers with many of the Suits.

Boys' Reefers for Spring Wear, $3.95 to $12.

A well-dressed boy is a pleasure to a parentand the fact of his being well cared for in the matter of clothes has much to do with the boy himself, in that it teaches him to care for his appearance. A boy is worthy of the best you can buy him—the best ? cut, best made clothing you can get—and that clothing. Take these Boys' Reef= ers, Top Coats, etc. Other people have coats called by the same name. but the difference is marked. The style and finish of the Parker= Bridget Coats is inimi= table. They "dress" a means. Parker-Bridget

Make it a point to give this sort of clothing a } trial this season.

75° Crystals, 10c.
Mainsprings, 75c.
All work guaranteed. Mainsprings, 75c.
All work guaranteed. A. KAHN, 935 F n.w. The Best and Mildest Laxative.

order will have charge of the affair.

The remains of Daniel R. Travers, whose death occurred yesterday in Washington, were brought here last evening. He resided in this city and was employed in Washington. He was unmarried. Arrangements for the funeral will be completed

INSPECTION OF WHARF SITE.

Col. Biddle and Building Inspector Preparing for New Fire Boat.

Col. John Biddle, Engineer Commissioner of the District, with Building Inspector Ashford, visited the river front this morning and inspected the proposed site of the new fire boat wharf, near the harbor office wharf at the foot of 7th street. Colonel Biddle also visited the morgue pier and the other piers in the vicinity of the harbor master's office. Commodore Sutton, the harbormaster, was the pilot on the trip.

Left Town Hastily.

Stephen Nicolleti, an Italian, who claimed that he came here from New York city, was before Judge Strider in the Police Court today upon a charge of disorderly conduct. He was in the grounds of the White House yesterday in an intoxicated condition and wanted to see the President, so Policeman Brown told the court. He was placed under arrest and sent to the station house immediately. When presented in court this morning he admitted to having been intoxicated and asked to be allowed to leave the city. Judge Strider took his personal bonds to keep the peace on condition that he leave the city at once. Nicolleti promised to leave and left the court room to take the first train to Philadelphia, where he stated he had relatives.

CURES WITHOUT STOMACH DOSING

Hyomel Cures Catarrh by Simple Breathing-Henry Evans Refunds Money If It Fails To Cure.

A long stride toward solving the mystery of em dropper and a bottle of Hyomel. Extra bottles of Breathing Hyomel through the inhaler, every

HE Gridiron Hat-a hat for the younger fellows who want something with a lot of snap and style to it. Made in several shades—at $2 and $3. Attractive in stylegreat in value.

Parker, Bridget & Co., 9th and Penna. Ave.

HOEKE'S Furniture, Carpets | Cor. Pa. ave. and Draperies.

Full Size $3.50 Rattan Rockers,

Mattings Reduced. 25 rolls of Heavy China Matting. Regular value, $9.00 roll. Special, per $5.20 15-odd rolls Extra Heavy China Marting. cial, per roll.

25-odd rolls Japanese Matting, in greens, geds and blues. Regular value. $9.00
$14.00 roll. Special, per roll... 10 rolls Extra Fine Japanese Matting. Regular value. $16.00 roll. $1 1.50 Special per roll.

1.200 yds. Matting Remants, values up to 40c. 10c. yd.

About 1,000 yards Velvets, Axminster and Brussels Carpets, in lengths of 10 to 35 yds., at half regular prices.

Window Shades. Let us do your window shade work. We use the best materials and the well-known Hartshorn Röllers. Shades made to 75c. order and put up at your window for 75c.

Carpets cleaned and cared or during the summer months. Fireproof and cold storage at low rates.

Estimates free. W. H. Hoeke, Cor. Pa. ave. & 8th st.

SPECIALS.

50c. Catawba, Wines, Sherry, Port 19c. 6 Popular Whiskey, 39c. The Elias Raff Liquor Co.,

Try It Yourself 3 0

204 7th St. N.W. Thone M. 1352,

That's the way to see what Solarine Metal Polish will actually do. It works wonders, but don't take our word for All dealers. Small size, 10c. Get silverware in exchange for trade-marks from cans.

Solarine Company

Free Services of an Oculist (M.D.) is worthy of your consideration when backed by fifteen years' experience and a guarantee of SAT-ISFACTION or MONEY REFUNDED. New and never-failing methods of testing eyes is the secret. Eye strain is nerve strain. C. E. Downes, M. D.

934 F St. Examination and adjusting "FREE TO YOU."

Until the 1st of April " "" Silk Shirt-waist Suits. for Seven Dollars. STRICTLY TAILORED COAT SUITS
MADE FOR FIFTEEN DOLLARS.

THE SHOREY-MARCH CO., Tailors and Dressmakers to Her Majesty Woman